

Programme for the 2nd DOC*X Seminar,

Exposure Assessment by Job Exposure Matrices

Wednesday, November 2nd. 2016, 13:00-17:00 hours

Venue: The National Institute for the Working Environment (NFA), Lersø Park Allé 105, DK-2100 Copenhagen OE, Denmark

Schedule:

13.00	Welcome, Professor Jens Peter Bonde, Department of Occupational and Environmental Medicine, Bispebjerg University Hospital, Copenhagen
13.15	Experience with and critical remarks on JEMS for community-based studies, Professor Hans Kromhout, Utrecht University, The Netherlands
14.00	Endocrine Disrupting chemicals and JEMS, Research Director Martie Van Tongeren, Institute of Occupational Medicine, Edinburgh
14.45	Break, coffee and cake
15.15	American and European JEMS, Professor Johan Hviid Andersen, Department of Clinical Medicine, Arbejdsmedicinsk Klinik, University Hospital, Herning
15.45	Modelling with JEMS, Associate Professor Esben Budtz-Jørgensen, Department of Biostatistics, University of Copenhagen
16.15	Lifestyle factors and JEMS, Postdoc Sesilje Petersen, Bispebjerg University Hospital
16.45	Closing remarks

We suggest that 2/3 of the time allocated each speech is for a lecture and 1/3 for questions and discussions.

Participation should be reported to: PA Hanne Tulinius: hanne.tulinius@regionh.dk by 18.10.2016
Please disseminate the invitation to all DOC*X participants, and to other interested parties.